To whom it may concern

Manpower is currently exploring opportunities to work with the SOS Labour Ghana Ltd. team both in the UK and other English speaking countries.

We have met with their representatives and are convinced of the professionalism of their organisation.

Client needs and the Labour and Work Permit Regulations in the various Manpower countries dictates the potential way forward for our two organisations to work together.

I visited Ghana and interviewed and assessed a good selection of available personnel. Their attitude and customer focus was excellent. I also undertook extensive assessments with their personnel and I would be pleased to discuss the outcomes with any interested parties.

Manpower has a strong Corporate Social Responsibility Programme and we are keen to work with organisations where people are respected, supported and not exploited when they undertake national and international assignments.
